

From the 688i Hunter-Killer Strategy Guide:

All is not well in the Western Hemisphere. The Ambitions of a dictator to the south of the United States (obviously Fidel Castro) are apparently being supported by the wealthiest of the drug cartels in South America. US Intelligence has discovered that the Cubans have been trying to rebuild their military might, which has dwindled since the Soviet Union dissolved in 1991 and their military shipments and monies were cut off. They have placed two of their three Russian-made, Foxtrot class submarines back out to sea after extensive repairs and modifications of an unknown type. There are rumors that these military buildups are being funded by drug shipments.